ANDOVER VS. EXETER TOMORROW

The Blue and the Grey Meet in Fortieth Annual Gridiron Contest on Plimpton Playing Fields, Exeter, at 2.00 p. m.

Tomorrow afternoon at Exeter the fortieth annual gridiron contest between the two greatest preparatory schools in America will be staged and from all accounts it will be one of the most exciting and evenly contested games in recent years. Andover's chances to win appear good and a large delegation of townspeople, as well as students are planning to accompany the team.

With the cessation of war activities at both the schools, interest in athletics has been revived, not alone in football but in all branches of sports as well, but at the present time the great American game is just now occupying the centre of attention. The Andover team has developed through the season into one which should be especially strong on the defensive in tomorrow's game. It has shown an abundance of power on several occasions and should give the Exeter backs considerable trouble in carrying the ball. Of course the Exeter backfield is known to be strong and it will be interesting to watch the battle in these departments. Of Andover's backfield

MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING

Victim Lies at Lawrence General Hospital. No Clues to Unknown Assailant

Several persons in Holt District heard the report of a shot gun on Wednesday evening just before nine o'clock. James Lynch of Salem street, felt sufficient curiosity to venture out into the inclement weather and make an investigation. Having walked but a short distance he heard some one moaning and was led by the sound toward the house of Perley F. Woodbridge. He called out to the person in distress who immediately shouted to him for assistance. He rushed back to the house for a lantern and returned to find Mr. Woodbridge lying in the doorway of his home suffering with a wound from a gunshot which had torn through the upper part of his right thigh. Dr. W. D. Walker was summoned and after administering first aid hurried the

Mr. and Mrs. Louis D. Savage of Haverhill announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Dodge Savage, to Harold Earl Larkin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Larkin of Chestnut street. Mr. Larkin is one of Andover's popular young men and served eighteen months in France with Battery F, 102nd F. A., 26th Division, and held the rank of corporal.

Teachers and Officers of South Church Entertained

The teachers and officers of the South Church Sunday School were entertained at supper Monday night in the vestry and a business meeting followed. Supper was served at seven o'clock and the menu included cold meats, potato, cabbage and vegetable salads, apple and squash pies and rolls and coffee. Rev. Harry A. Reid of Boston, the new Church School expert, gave a talk on the ways in which the school might be improved and asked for suggestions. One of these suggestions was to have the opening exercises in the auditorium and this will probably be done soon.

Children's Matinee

The Andover Mothers' Club has arranged a special children's matinee at the Colonial Theatre on next Tuesday afternoon, November 18th, at four o'clock. The proceeds will be used for child welfare relief work. The principal picture will be "Uncle Tom's Cabin" the story of which is of particular interest to an Andover audience as this town was once the home of its noted author, Harriet Beecher Stowe. Other pictures will be a humorous sketch by Mabel Normand and one educational film.

Husking Party

Work and play were delightfully combined at the husking party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Richard Abbott on Upland road last Saturday evening. A bountiful harvest supper was served after which the guests set to work with a will and sixty-four bushels of corn were husked in about an hour. When the work was finished, games were played and a musical program rendered.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. G. Richard Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Percy D. Crosby, Misses Florence Abbott, Edna Bennett and Messrs. Franklin Ellis, Arthur Jenkins, Ray L. Dearborn, James P. Chubb, Walter Tabor, Fred E. Cheever, Ralph A. Nash and William Holden.

Son Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt

Announcement has been received of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edward Wyatt of Janesville, Wisconsin, Sunday, November 9th. Mrs. Wyatt was formerly Miss Elizabeth Holmes, Abbot 1918, and Mr. Wyatt will be well remembered here as Phillips Andover's military instructor of that year.

R. C. O. A. Dancing Party

A successful dance was held Armistice eve in the town hall and there was a very large attendance including many from out-of-town. About 130 couples were present and dancing was enjoyed until midnight, excellent music being furnished by the Columbia Klub Jazz of Lawrence. The committee in charge was Douglas A. E. Sparks, chairman; William McKee, George M. Collins, Arthur W. Cole, George Knipe, Eldred Larkin and Robert Christie.

A. V. I. S. ANNUAL MEETING

Report of the Clerk, Captain Frank Gray Tells How the Labor Problem is Solved in Reading

The Andover Village Improvement Society held its annual meeting in the library of the Pynchard School on Monday evening, Prof. Charles H. Forbes, presiding. The clerk, Miss Emma J. Lincoln, read the report for the year ending November 10, 1919, as follows:

A report of the past year's work hardly seems worth while as there has been no opportunity to do anything in a constructive line; although with the signing of the armistice a year ago, we hoped that by the following summer normal conditions would prevail. This hope however, was not realized, but instead, we have found it difficult in some cases to secure caretakers for the little parks, for the care of which we are responsible. Eventually we were able to secure help for the work, so that there has been no noticeable neglect in their appearance.

Enthusiasm for village improvement has been at its lowest ebb in the past two years. Naturally the thought in every mind was "What can I do to help win this war against civilization?"

Now we may turn to the duties nearer home and we are already planning our work for another year, which will be the improvement of the plot on Andover Hill and that in Frye Village in front of Walter Donald's residence which was decided by him to the society about three years ago.

At the hill plot, the old country road for the re-location of which we petitioned the County Commissioner a few years ago, will give place to the newer road which will be improved and the lower portion of the park will be filled and graded. We hope for the practical completion of the work at this place in another year.

At the plot in Frye, or Shawshen village, the first requisite seems to be to get the lower portion of the plot.

Jitneys have proved a wonderfully convenient means of transportation, but can they give the service required at all seasons of the year? Is it a fact that street cars as a mode of transportation are fast passing, that they are cumbersome, noisy, slow and not in keeping with the progressive spirit of America as is declared in a statement issued by the Lawrence Auto Transit Association? These are some of the questions which must soon be answered. The street railway problem has become more and more acute each year and now matters in the Lawrence district have reached a climax. Selectman Eames has received a copy of the following letter written to Mayor Hurley of Lawrence.

November 11, 1919

Hon. John J. Hurley, Mayor, Lawrence, Mass.

Dear Sir: The Public Trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company have just received from Manager John H. Hayes the first statement of earnings for the Lawrence District under the Home Rule plan, and we regret to inform you that the District during September failed to earn operating expenses and depreciation.

The loss was caused entirely by the unrestricted jitney traffic permitted by the City Council. A careful estimate of our employees shows that the unrestricted jitney traffic permitted is responsible for a monthly loss to this publicly-controlled street railway of $25,000 per month or $300,000 per year. But for this drain upon its treasury, the Lawrence District in September would not only have been operated without loss, but the earnings would have been sufficient to immediately warrant a reduction in fares.

You are, of course, aware that in the establishment of the Lawrence District the Public Trustees have seen to it that only earnings and expenses in Lawrence and surroundings lines are taken into consideration in the determination of fares there.

You also know that the Public Trustees have no funds available for the operation of any District at a loss.

The Public Trustees appreciate the

HOLLIS

At the Hollis Street Theatre on Monday evening William Gillette enters upon the second week of his limited Boston engagement in "Dear Brutus," the newest Sir James M. Barrie comedy to be seen in this country. The Boston engagement follows upon a run of an entire season at the New York Empire Theatre.The present engagement assumes far more than passing importance for the playgoer. A new Barrie play is always an interesting and welcome occasion in the theatre. The visits here of Mr.
Gillette are always eagerly awaited and it is stated that in "Dear Brutus" he has never been seen to more splendid advantage. With a superb Charles Frohman cast little less than remarkable, bristling with famous names, and a scenic production of extravagant, but tasteful, prodigality, it is easy to understand why Barrie, Mr. Gillette, cast and production enthused New York theatregoers for a whole season.Barrie has taken the cryptic title of his comedy from the lines in Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream,"
"These players that we are underlings."
Throughout three acts, replete with Barrie's whimsical humor, and charming fantasy, the author imagines the possibilities should we have our off-expressed wish to live our lives over again and have a "second chance."In roles surrounding that of Mr.
Gillette there appear such distinguished players as Hilda Moore, who created her present role of Mrs. Dearth with Gerald Du Maurier in the original London production of "Dear Brutus," Violet Kemble Cooper, daughter of the oldest English acting family; Marie Wainwright, that splendid player of lengthy and dignified service; Madge Ballamy, Anne Morrison, Frances Anderson, Grant Stewart, William Pod-more, Fred Russell, T. A. Braiden and others.

COPLEY

The patrons of the Henry Jewett Players have always been fond of the plays written by G. Bernard Shaw, and further evidence of this unquestioned fact is afforded in the crowds that have been flocking to the Copley Theatre all this week to witness "Widowers' Houses" and "How He Lied to Her Husband." So pronounced has been the success of this double bill that it will remain the attraction throughout the coming week."Widowers' Houses" is a realistic exposure of slum landlordism, municipal jobbery and the pecuniary and matrimonial ties between it and those people who derive their income from sources which they either know little about or do not care to investigate. To quote Shaw's description of his play it shows a middle class respectability and a younger son's gentility fattening on the poverty of the slums. All the eight characters are in capable hands, for Director Jewett has cast this play admirably. Percy Carne Waram makes an admirable Mr.
French, Mr. Wingfield makes a great deal of the character of Sartorius; Miss Roach does admirably with a disagreeable part, that of Blanche;
Mr. Craske gives a capital character sketch as Cokane, and Mr. Clive as Lickcheese brings out all the subtle possibilities of the role.The other piece, "How He Lied to Her Husband," which follows, calls for only three characters: The lover, played by Mr. Ross; the wife, played by Miss Newcombe; and the husband, played by Mr. Matthews. The piece is played with all the unctious humor and regard for capital by-play that the dialogue and action call for. The bill makes one of the most delightful entertainments that the Henry Jewett Players have presented in a long time.
Plays that the Jewett Players are now rehearsing are: "Charley's Aunt," for which there has been a wide request;
"Miss Robinson," by Elizabeth Baker, and "Milestones," which will be a revival.

TREMONT

Boston has endorsed the verdict of New York, Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit in proclaiming "3 Wise Fools" the best comedy of the year. Monday night at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, a capacity audience attested to the reputation which preceded the offering, and nothing but the highest commendation greeted the play and players.There is always a something stimulating about a good, gripping comedy-drama. Sociological plays may invite analysis; farces may incite laughter; classic contributions may inspire concentration and melodrama may arouse sentiment; all types of drama have an appeal of more or less potentiality, but the play with a purpose, the play with a laugh and a tear co-mingled in perfect proportions; the play with the thrill and a smile affiliated, is the play that will endure, because it has a consolidated universal appeal."3 Wise Fools" by Austin Strong, which John Golden presents at the Tremont Theatre for a limited engagement, is just such a play.The story is unique:—The three wise fools are three old cronies who live together in a fashionable house in Washington Square, New York, once the residential section of Gotham's most exclusive aristocracy. These three old chaps, one a retired financier, one a physician and one a lawyer, live by rote, they have a regular time and a routine way for doing everything; they drink a glass of hot milk at a stipulated hour each night; they eat an apple at a certain minute each evening; they play solitaire at a regular time each day, and they have certain dishes served at each meal during each day of the week.
They simply live in the past, holding sacred the memory of one girl who was wooed and lost by each when they were lads.
So the three staid, conservative men become upon this one topic three wise fools.The arrival of a young ward, bequeathed them by a dying mother, their old sweetheart, completely revolutionizes their mode of living and transforms their lives. The many dramatic incidents and startling surprises must be withheld for the auditor alone.Mr. Golden has chosen a formidable array of players including Claude Gil-lingwater, Harry Davenport, Howard Gould, Helen Menken, Charles Laite,
Samuel E. Hines, Minnie Remaley, Homer Hunt, Wallace Fortune, Millard Vincent and Harry Forman.

PLYMOUTH

Boston will welcome Alice Brady's return to the spoken stage at the Plymouth Theatre next Monday evening (November 17th), when this noted artist of both stage and screen opens in an entirely new play dealing with the love and faith of youth, and their triumph over all obstacles. The event is one of the leading ones of Boston's present theatrical season, for it will mark Miss Brady's first appearance here since her return to the legitimate stage, and will also mark the first showing of one of the most successful American plays of recent years, which attained the wonderful record of 344 performances in New York.No character hitherto portrayed by the talented daughter of William A.
Brady has given her delightful personality and remarkable ability the latitude for expression that the role of Jenny, the little Vermont heroine of the Davis drama, gives her. It is a role to which by temperament, personality and ability she is particularly adapted. Although long ago she won laurels on the spoken stage, and more recently, through the medium of the films, has become known from coast to coast as one of the hopes of the American drama, it is her characterization of Jenny, in this play, which has placed her firmly in the front rank of living players."Forever After" is an unusual play with a universal appeal, and it is no wonder that it speedily ingratiated itself with Broadway theatregoers and held their admiration and steady patronage for so phenomenally long a period. This idyll of two childhood sweethearts is at once homely, human and wholesome. It opens in a wilderness across the sea, and its rapidly shifting scenes take the audience to a picturesque garden in a small Vermont township, and to the Harvard training quarters on the eve of the Yale-Harvard race. The climax provides Miss Brady with a poignantly moving scene in which she demonstrates her great gift as an emotional actress.Supporting the star is the same cast which supported her during the long
New York engagement, including Conrad Nagel, John Warner, Mrs. Ross Whytal, Frank Hatch, Isabel Lanan, Daring Navel, Frederic Hanatt, B. K.
Fried, Virginia Ruppert, Gustave Rol-

earnest efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and Citizens' Committee to bring about reasonable jitney regulations, but the financial condition of the Lawrence District makes an immediate decision necessary. The time has come when Lawrence must choose between street railway and jitney service. The earnings in October were less than in September, and the Public Trustees are unable to longer run the District at a loss.We are, therefore, obliged to notify you that unless effective measures to restrict jitney competition are adopted by the 26th day of November, street railway service on all local lines, and most of the interurban lines, will be discontinued on and after that date.Yours truly,

Chairman of TrusteesIf the jitneys are put out of business there is a possibility, according to President Rushforth of the association, that the drivers will carry passengers free of charge, as has been done in Middleton. In the event of such a thing the drivers, it is said, will not refuse to accept a "gift" from the passengers.

FREDERIC S. BOUTWELL,

Meets in LowellAt a meeting of the Andover Ministerial Association held in Lowell, Tuesday, November 4th, a special set of resolutions on the critical Armenian situation was passed, as follows: "In view of the one hundred years of philanthropic service to all the peoples of Turkey and the large investment of life and property made by the people of America, and in view of the present crisis, threatening not only the continuance of this humanitarian servicebut also the very existence of the people for whom it was established, and in view of the fact that the United States is the only one of the great powers which is in a position to render this service: Be it therefore resolved, that it is the earnest conviction of the Andover Ministerial Association assembled in Lowell, Mass., that action should immediately be taken by the United States to protect the people of Armenia such as is contemplated by the Williams Resolution now before the Senate." This motion was presented by Rev. W. F. English, Jr.The program of the meeting was as follows:

1. Reports from the National Council by Rev. H. G. Mank, Rev. John L.
Keedy and Rev. Arthur S. Beale.
2. A paper on President Tucker's recent book, "My Generation," by Rev. Harry S. Lowd.
3. A paper on "Browning's Churchmen" by Rev. A. R. Hussey.

Rev. E. Victor Bigelow was chairman of the meeting and Rev. Arthur S.

New Trail in White Mountains

Trampers in the White Mountain National Forest will find ready for them next summer the first north-and-south trail extending through the area of land held by the Federal Government. The new trail will be made a reality by the construction of a link from Bartlett, N.
H., over Cave Mountain and Mount Parker to connect with the Davis Path on Mount Resolution. The link, which is to be constructed by the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, and the paths with which it will connect, will extend for approximately 40 miles, from Wonalancet at the extreme southerly end of the White Mountain group, to Appalachia, at the north of the Presidential Range.Trampers can profitably spend a week in traversing the new route, according to Forest Service officials. It will pass over most of the Presidential Range, and will disclose some of the most beautiful scenery of this vacation land.What to name the new route is being debated by the Forest Service men. One suggestion is that it be called Agioconhook, which is the Indian name for Mount Washington. This name is open to objection, officials say, because of its length and difficulty. There may be a compromise. In the meantime, the office of the forest supervisor at Gorham, N. H., invites suggestions.The Forest Service also expects to have in operation early next summer the two public camping grounds that are being installed on Government-owned land in the White Mountains.

A. V. I. S. ANNUAL MEETING

of a swampy nature. Fortunately, there are several thrifty trees on this plot. A wooden bridge gives access across from the lower level of Union street to North Main street where the electric cars stop. If the plot is properly drained and graded the necessity for a bridge will have ceased, and it might be replaced by a flight of rustic stone steps which could be made a charming feature.

With the transformation of Frye, into Shawshen Village we are evidently to have here the beauty spot of the town. Nature has done much for the locality, giving it the flowing river, the lovely meadows beyond the pond, the rushing brook (alas! we miss the waterfall of a few years ago) and now art is transforming unsightly houses into most attractive ones and a definite, well thought out plan is being carried out in the construction of the houses and their surroundings. We foresee that this will be the part of Andover which we shall want to show to all our visiting friends, and it seems fitting that our society should be especially interested in the new work which we are about to undertake there.

It is felt by many of our members that the time has come for action in relation to the removal of the Centennial Tree in Elm Square to a point in the plot in front of Mr. Barnard's residence. Doubtless, most of the older residents have a great deal of sentiment in regard to this tree, but it, as is claimed, has already been the cause of accidents, and will always continue to be a menace while in its present location, the sooner it is removed the better. Not for one instant can we weigh our feeling for a tree against the value of a human life, and the society will probably take steps to get the feeling of the town in regard to its removal. If it can be moved safely, it should be done as soon as possible, and the town should bear the expense. If it cannot be moved, it should be sacrificed and a new tree started, but aside from the associations connected with this tree, it is a rarely beautiful specimen and we hope that it may be preserved.

In this and in all our work we ask the continued help on the part of members and friends.

We wish to make acknowledgment to the Andover Townsman and to the Lawrence Telegram and Lawrence Tribune for space freely given.

Respectfully submitted,
EMMA J. LINCOLN
Clerk.

The treasurer's report, read by Mr. Angus, showed that funds had accumulated so that a sum of $1000 is immediately available for any undertaking.

Miss Jane Carpenter read the report of the nominating committee for William A. Trow, chairman, and trustees were elected who later organized as follows: President, William A. Trow; first vice-president, Charles H. Forbes; second vice-president, Mrs. Francis W. Abbott; third vice-president, Nathan C. Hamblin; treasurer, John C. Angus; clerk, Miss Emma J. Lincoln; board of directors, John H. Campion, Herbert F. Chase, C. W. Holland, Mrs. Lucy A. Eaton, Mrs. Ethel C. Hussey, Miss Lucy B. Abbott, Miss Clara A. Putnam. Professor Charles H. Forbes, president of the society, then introduced Captain Frank Gray who told the interesting story of what was accomplished by "Community Days" in Reading. Reading, having received the gift of eight acres of land, designed to be a public park, the fund of $2000 which accompanied it, was found quite inadequate for grading, planting, laying out walks and the multitude of other things needed to make an attractive public play-ground. A meeting of citizens was called to take counsel on the matter, but the response was so small as to be almost discouraging. A second meeting to which representatives from every organization in town were definitely invited, was a great success and enthusiasm was kindled which spread through the whole community. Backed by the press, without whose help and influence, Mr. Gray believes that any movement is hopelessly handicapped, a publicity campaign was started which attracted widespread canvass.

A house-to-house canvass by the women engaged the promise of help either in the form of labor, money, shrubs, plants, transportation or food for the Community Day to be held April 19th. The response was generous, and at the appointed day and hour, 3,000 men, women and children gathered armed with the implements of labor, and marched to the scene of the day's work. Among other tasks accomplished were the setting of a boulder for a bronze tablet, the planting of memorial trees for the Reading men who made the supreme sacrifice and the remodeling of a barn into a shelter and rest room for women and children.

Lunch was served at noon and later in the day a one-ring circus offered amusement and relaxation to the workers. A contractor who viewed the work afterwards, estimated that $5,000 of work was the result of the day's effort. Considering that many of those who volunteered their services were women and children and men quite unaccustomed to manual labor, the sum total was astonishing. Mr. Gray considers that the money value of the work is but a small part of what the day achieved. The interest which the people will take in a park partly formed by their own hands and the wonderful community spirit fostered by such a gathering are of value such as can not be reckoned in terms of dollars and cents.

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served by Mrs. Dalton, matron of the school lunch, assisted by ten high school girls.

Help for Fatherless French Children

Several thousand big-eyed, lonesome little kiddies in France, whose fathers lie beneath the closely set wooden crosses which mark the fields and highways, would begin to take heart again could they realize the big wave of practical sympathy for them which is being set in motion in this country.

The Fatherless Children of France, an American organization co-operating with a similar organization in France of which Marshal Joffre is the head, has created a special campaign committee, with Mrs. Walter S. Brewster of Chicago as chairman, and is initiating drives in all parts of the country.

At Galveston, Texas, a fund of over $590 was realized through a prize-package day, when each box of the inexpensive confection sold on the streets by pretty young girls contained a coupon entitling the purchaser to some specific article donated by the merchants of the town. The price fixed on these packages realized a profit of almost 75 per cent. for the little children of France. In Chicago a Vanity Fete is being given, with the co-operation of the makers of gowns, society women agreeing to appear as mannequins. A fund of $10,000 is expected to be realized from this, while a similar affair is announced to be held in Washington and an Armistice Ball in Boston. At Muskogee, Oklahoma, the local committee secured checking privileges at the October State Fair, and realized a considerable sum from this source and the sale of postcards. A street dance at Macomb, Illinois, was productive of good returns: a tag day at Des Moines, Iowa, brought in $3,285, a Garden Fete in Los Angeles, almost $2,500 and one in Cincinnati $36,625.07, while in many other communities the motto is "no drive, but a steady do."

Yet with all this help there are still 40,000 wistful little fatherless children not yet provided for, to whom American aid had been promised before the Armistice. Only ten cents a day added to the tiny pension the French Government has been able to grant orphans of the war, will provide for one such child.

Noble Safety Record Drive

The employee of all Railroads under Government control are watching with great interest the result of the National Railroad Accident Prevention Drive, now under way.

For the first ten days of the Drive the Nation's Railroads as a whole show a reduction in accidents of 58% over those for the same period last year. On the roads which comprise the New York, New Haven and Hartford System and Central New England Railroad the advance work was so thoroughly organized and such active interest aroused through the efforts of F. W. Mitchell, superintendent of safety on the New Haven, that by the co-operative efforts of all employees, in the first ten days of the drive, they have been able to reduce the number of accidents 80%. This places them in the lead in the Eastern Region and unless all signs fail the employees intend that they shall hold this place when the final result is announced.

Exeter High Wins 39 to 0

Punchard High won its fifth successive victory over Exeter High in a lively game of football played on the local playstead last Saturday. This is the twelfth annual contest between the two schools and much interest centers around this particular game.

The final score was 39 to 0. After putting up a fairly strong game in the first half the New Hampshire line was torn apart and their ends circled by the Andover players in the second half for five touchdowns. Punchard tallied once in the first period through Payne, and Dalton kicked the goal. They were on their way to a second touchdown but E. Chandler fumbled and Exeter kicked out of danger.

The Punchard backs gained at will in the second half and Dalton and Harry Payne worked the cross-cross with great success. Punchard's fourth touchdown was scored in a rather uncommon manner. Payne kicked off to Exeter and the ball struck an Exeter player and rolled over the goal line. Dalton was wide awake and pounced on the pigskin for a touchdown.

Score: Punchard 39. Touchdowns: Dalton 3, Payne 2, E. Chandler. Goals: from touchdowns, Dalton 2, Clinton. Referee: O. Tower. Umpire: T. Kyle. Head linesman: W. Sellers. Time: 12 min. periods.

The Punchard team certainly knows football having had the benefit of a most efficient coach in the person of E. V. Lovely of the high school faculty. With only two players to start the season, and handicapped by a poor schedule he has done wonderful work with the squad.

THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

ANDOVER, MASSACHUSETTS

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY

AT THE PRESS BUILDING BY THE ANDOVER PRESS

JOHN N. COLE

Entered at Andover Postoffice as Second Class Matter

Owing to the absence of the Editor who is attending the annual Conventions of the American Association of Port Authorities and the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, the Townsman appears today without its usual editorial column.

Exhibit of Old China

The exhibit of the dishes from the Clough estate, and some of Mr. Millett's pitchers created so much enthusiasm at the annual meeting of the Andover Historical Society that the directors have been requested to open the rooms at 71 Main street to the public tomorrow afternoon, November 15th, from 3.30 to 5.30 o'clock. The fee is ten cents, cheaper than the movies and a great deal more interesting. Afternoon tea will be an additional attraction.

Thanksgiving Sale

The Woman's Guild of Christ Church will hold its annual Thanksgiving Sale on the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, November 25th. There will be many new features this year, and the children are especially invited. They will be interested in the Gingerbread House with Hansel and Gretel selling gingerbread men, and in the trained white goose that eats a dime and gives a surprise in return.

The usual table of good things for Thanksgiving, cakes, pies, bread, candy, fresh and canned vegetables and preserves will be ready with the addition of a fancy goods and "jumble" table.

A gypsy is to tell fortunes, and afternoon tea will be served.

In the evening a wonderful "Circus" is to be given with music by the Phillips Academy orchestra.

South Church Notice

Thursday afternoon, November 20th at 3.30 o'clock the women of the South church will begin their mission study for the winter.

The World War has given a great desire to know more about medicine, surgery and the care of the sick in other lands. The women who have folded countless dressings to send to the hospitals at the front, will be interested to know about the hospitals in India, Africa, China and the Philippines.

The missionary committee have chosen the study of medical missions for the winter and the study book is "A Crusade of Compassion for the Healing of the Nations." At this first meeting three trained nurses will give talks on the development of medicine and surgery in America and Europe and a returned Red Cross nurse will speak of modern surgery behind the firing line in France.

By way of contrast the story of the development of medicine in India will be told. A description of the Madura hospital will be given. It was to the building of this Madura hospital that the money raised by the women of the Andover and Woburn branch for the Golden Jubilee Gift was given. Those who have ordered study books may procure them at this meeting. All are cordially invited.

Need for Warm Clothing

The newly-formed Public Service Committee of the November Club wishes to collect warm clothing for adults and children for use in Andover. There is special need for children's shoes. There will be someone at the Andover Guild to receive such contributions next Tuesday afternoon between two and five o'clock.

The committee wishes it understood that they are working in co-operation with all the other relief organizations in town, except the special work in charge of individual churches. They hope by this means to avoid duplication of work. In particular they have affiliated themselves with the work of the district nurse. The work is to some extent an outgrowth of the Home Service Section of the Red Cross, and it is hoped that cases of need will be brought to the attention of the Committee: Mrs. George French, chairman; Mrs. Eben Baldwin, Mrs. Douglas Crawford, Mrs. Markham W. Stackpole and Mrs. Philip P. Ripley.

Be not weary in well doing.

Entertained at Luncheon

The members of the Benevolent Society of the Academy Church and the ladies of the Phillips Academy Faculty were entertained by Mrs. Markham W. Stackpole at a delightful luncheon on Thursday, November 13th. At the regular meeting which followed, Miss Anne Hincks, executive secretary and field worker of the Bethesda Society of Boston, gave a very interesting talk on the work of that society and the re-education of the wayward girl.

Notice to Farmers

There will be a meeting of the Farm Bureau in Grange Hall, Tuesday, November 18th at 2.00 o'clock. All farmers and their wives are invited to attend.

Barnstormers Take a New Lease of Life

The active members of the Barnstormers gathered on Tuesday evening at the home of the president, Douglas Crawford, to decide whether or not the organization was to continue. It was the sentiment of the meeting that a career of usefulness is still open to a society interested in the drama. An election of officers was held which resulted as follows: President, Miss Mary Byers Smith; vice-presidents, Mrs. H. Winthrop Peirce and Miss Agnes Park; secretary, Miss Bell Joy Butterfield; treasurer, Frederick E. Cheever; directors, Mrs. Eben Baldwin, Addison B. LeBoutillier, Cecil K. Bancroft, Edmond E. Hammond, William S. Spencer.

With Miss Mary Byers Smith in the chair there was a general discussion of the future scope and activities of the society which brought to the consideration of the new directors many interesting and practicable suggestions. At the conclusion of the business meeting, refreshments were served and a pleasant hour spent in recalling incidents in the life of the organization.

Cider for Thanksgiving

"The manufacture and sale of pure apple cider is permissible whether it is fermented or not, providing nothing has been added to increase its alcoholic content." This announcement was made by Acting Collector of Internal Revenue Andrew J. Casey in response to many inquiries recently received by internal revenue officials about the use of cider for Thanksgiving.

Cider, whether sweet or hard, may be sold at the present time without regard to alcoholic content, but after the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution becomes effective January 16, 1920, cider can be manufactured and sold commercially only when the alcoholic content is under one-half of one per cent.

"The addition of sugar or other fermentable substitutes for the purpose of increasing the alcoholic content is considered a violation of the law, but no restrictions or limitations are placed upon the manufacture and sale of pure cider by the War Revenue Act or the Prohibition Act." It is taxable upon the manufacture when sold in closed containers.

"Cider put upon the market and sold as wine is taxed as wine. It is not really wine and if it is not put up and sold as wine it is not subject to the wine tax, regardless of the amount of alcohol it contains or of its intoxicating qualities."

Conversational French

At the November Clubhouse on Thursday afternoon, December 4th at four o'clock, the Department of University Extension will open its course in conversational French. Successive lessons will be given on each Thursday following.

Grange News

"The Town Where I was Born and Some Interesting Facts Concerning It" proved a most fruitful subject at the Grange meeting Tuesday evening. Every member present answered promptly at the roll-call and many instructive, laughable, and altogether interesting facts were listened to by all. Two visitors were present and added their part to the program.

Notice was given of an all-day meeting of the Woman's Club in Grange Hall on Thursday, November 20th. Ladies are asked to bring lunch. Supper and evening entertainment will be furnished by a committee of younger members of the Grange with Miss Florence Pike as chairman. Dancing will be part of the evening's pleasure.

On Tuesday, November 18th, at two o'clock a Farm Bureau meeting will be held at Grange Hall. The farmers will talk over many matters of general interest. Farmers' wives are invited and Miss Gladys E. Stratton, Home Demonstration Agent for Essex County, will help to make this meeting helpful and interesting with helpful suggestions which her wide experience has taught her. This meeting can be made of benefit to all if each does his own part.

Daring Attempt to Steal Car

A daring attempt to steal a car from the Coleman garage on Park street shortly after midnight Monday was frustrated by the quick work of Kenneth Coleman. He had occasion to return to the garage after he had closed it for the night and saw three men with a car, ready to leave. He dashed to the telephone and shut the door of the office and had just time to notify his father, Ralph W. Coleman, "Come quick," when he was felled by a blow from one of the would-be robbers.

His father arrived in time to see the men leave without the car and after firing several shots at them, returned to find his son unconscious. He recovered and said that the men were strangers to him but that he would know one of them if he saw him again.

Women's Relief Corps

On Friday evening, November 7th, Mrs. Coolidge of Athol inspected General William F. Bartlett Woman's Relief Corps No. 127, and pronounced its almost perfect work among the very best in the entire state.

Refreshments were served by the executive committee.

At a special meeting of the corps held on Tuesday evening it was voted to entertain the veterans at the Chelsea Home on Friday, November 21st. Whist will be played in the afternoon and there will be an entertainment in the evening. Members from Andover wishing to attend, should take the 12.20 Reading car from Elm square.

Mission Circle of Baptist Church

On the afternoon of November 6th, the Ladies' Mission Circle of the Baptist church gathered in the vestry. There were brief, earnest devotional exercises, and votes were passed on several items of business.

All present were greatly interested in the program, portions from the "Survey", that great pamphlet setting forth the achievements and problems of Baptist mission work all over the world, and the program for future work. Beginnings of work in the Orient, the great aim of foreign mission,—"to create a Christian civilization,"; tremendous need of education in modern mission work; the education of women, ("two-thirds of the women of the Orient are locked up in the prisons of illiteracy"); medical work, equipment of mission stations, need for many more workers, ("we should send only the choicest and best men and women"); doors the war has opened abroad, the missionary challenge through all North and South America, and with all races, these and other points were briefly sketched. As is stated in the Foreword of this magazine, "We stand at a new day in the world's life, when we cannot tell the future by any measures of the past. Not more than once or twice in its history has the world greeted a day so freighted with possibilities."

Kreisler Program for Lawrence Concert

C. A. Ellis of Boston, manager of Kreisler, the great violinist, has sent Mr. Sault, promoter of the concert at the Colonial theatre a week from Sunday, the program which the virtuoso is to give on that occasion.

The program is an unusual one. It was marked "A1" by Mr. Kreisler, who recalls very distinctly two previous successes at Lawrence. He is attempting the unusual feat of giving two different concertos in a single program. He will open with Vivaldi's concerto in C major and follow it with Viotti's concerto in A minor.

Ballet music from Schubert's "Rosamunde" and the "Hindoo Chant" by Rimsky Korsakoff are other features of the program. Popular numbers include "Gypsy Serenade," "Tambourin Chinois," "La Gitana," "Rondino," and "Viennese Caprice." A negro spiritual "Nobody Knows De Troubles I've Seen" is also offered. Kreisler gave this as an encore in his Boston recital last month and this month the Victor Company is featuring the record. The program:

Concerto, C major	A. Vivaldi
Allegro energico
Andante dolcissimo
Allegro molto
Concerto in A minor	G. B. Viotti
Moderato
Adagio
Agitato assai
(a) "Hindoo Chant"	Rimsky-Korsakoff
(b) Ballet Music from "Rosamunde"	Schubert
(c) Gypsy Serenade	Charles K. Field
(d) Tambourin Chinois	Kreisler
(e) "Nobody Knows De Troubles I've Seen"	Kreisler
(f) (Negro Spiritual) Arr. by Clarence C. White	Kreisler
(g) La Gitana	Kreisler
(h) Rondino on a Theme by Beethoven	Kreisler
(i) Caprice Viennois	Kreisler

Three Fires

An alarm from box 4 was sounded Saturday night at 10.05 o'clock calling the department to a fire in the open coal pocket belonging to Marland Mills. Thousands of gallons of water were thrown onto the fire and the heat was so intense that streams of water flowed out from the pocket heated to such a temperature that the firemen in rubber boots found it impossible to stand in it.

On Monday at 9.45 o'clock an alarm was sounded from box 51. A blazing oil heater in the house occupied by George L. Smith of Elm street had filled the attic with dense smoke, but the prompt action of the firemen prevented any damage—even to the oil heater.

About ten o'clock Tuesday forenoon a fire was discovered at the home of John A. Riley, Center street, Ballardvale. The fire is supposed to have originated near the chimney in the kitchen, and it worked its way into the partitions where it was very difficult to extinguish.

Christ Church Notes

Next Tuesday those preparing for confirmation are asked to note the hours for classes, 4.30 and 7.30 o'clock (not 8.00 o'clock), in the rector's study. On next Tuesday night at 8.00 o'clock in the Parish House, the "Get Together" meeting will begin. Let us keep the fact in mind. It will be an important gathering in Christ Church parish life.

The Country Parsons' Club met at the rectory on Thursday, when they had lunch together and listened to Rev. A. W. Wright of Newburyport, who spoke on the General Convention lately held in Detroit.

Garfield Lodge Welcomes Its Service Members

Tuesday evening Garfield lodge tendered their service men a Welcome Home which consisted of a banquet, presentation and dance. The banquet was held in Workmen's hall at eight o'clock and was prepared and served by a committee from Garfield Temple, Pythian Sisters. The service men occupied the table of honor in the center of the hall and on the table was a beautiful silk American flag. Max Lucke, chancellor commander, presided and briefly welcomed the service men. "America" was sung, after which the banquet was served.

Max Lucke, C. C., then presented each of the service men with the Certificate of Honor which the Supreme lodge had authorized for the K. of P. men who had served during the war.

The honor roll: James Caldwell, John Henderson, James K. Nicoll, William Steed, Alfred McKee, David MacDonald, Frank Nicoll, Wendell H. Kydd, G. Homer Judge, Harry W. Hayward, Charles W. Davis, Robert E. Hutcheson, David Waldie, George C. Henderson, Edward W. Roggegan, William Anderson, William Haddon, Thomas Davies, William Massey, Elmer E. Mears, Clifford S. Wrigley, Ralph T. Berry, William J. Henderson, Hugh Moore, Henry J. Shorten, Gustav W. Johnson, Robert V. Deyermond, William J. Forsyth, Alexander M. Ness, William Deyermond, Edward P. Davis, William Denty.

A pleasing part of the celebration followed when C. C. Max Lucke, presented Thomas B. Flynn who has faithfully served Garfield lodge for a number of years as master of the exchequer, with a beautiful K. of P. charm.

Buckley's orchestra furnished music for the dancing which was enjoyed until midnight.

The committee in charge of the supper were Mrs. Harry Gouck, chairman; William Gouck, Mrs. George York, Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. Elmer Davis, Mrs. Jos. Hilton, Mrs. James C. Soutar, Mrs. Robert Low, Mrs. Henry Fairweather, Mrs. Horace Eaton, Misses Jean MacDonald, Sarah Hilton and Elizabeth Henderson.

Real Estate Sold

The fine estate of J. Harold Melledge on Bartlett street has been purchased by Burchard E. Horne of Lawrence.

The Marland property consisting of the two and a half story house on Chestnut street and the old Marland cottage at corner of Chestnut and Central streets has been purchased by James Anderson of High street.

Both sales were made through the real estate agency of William H. Higgins of this town and Lawrence.

Violin Lessons

"Music is a sort of universal language which harmoniously relates all the sensations of life."

Joseph Emile Daudelin, former pupil of the famous Paris Conservatoire, at the Briggs-Allen School Saturdays; other days at Steiner Hall, Boston.

AN IMPORTANT POSITION

Lieut. William J. Cronin, Recently Returned from Overseas Chosen Counsel of Legal Branch of Metal Trades Association

Attorney William J. Cronin of Andover left Saturday for New York, where he has accepted the position of General Counsel of the New York and New Jersey Branch of the National Metal Trades Association, whose membership comprises most of the manufacturers of machinery and iron and steel products in the United States.

Mr. Cronin attended Pynchard High, Norwich University and graduated from Boston University Law School in 1914 in which year he was admitted to the bar. Prior to the war, he was connected with the Boston law firm of Wilson, Juggins and Murphy and also maintained a law office in Andover. He was prominent in town affairs, having been twice a candidate for representative on the democratic ticket, and was counsel for the petitioners in the Abbott Village Sewer fight a few years ago.

At the outbreak of the war, he enlisted and attended the first officers training camp at Plattsburg where he was commissioned a second lieutenant. At the close of camp, he was one of those who volunteered for immediate service in France and he left the United States on September 12, 1917, being among the first 50,000 American troops to land in France. He attended the Field Artillery School at Saumur, France, for three months under the French and was then assigned to the 149th Field Artillery of the Rainbow Division, then in training at Coetquidan, where the artillery of the 26th Division was also in training at that time. He accompanied the 149th to the front and was with them for seven months of active fighting on the Lunville and Baccarat sectors, in Champagne and the Chateau-Thierry salient.

While resting in billets after Chateau-Thierry, Mr. Cronin suffered a physical breakdown, due to gas poisoning received about a month before, and was under treatment for two and one-half months at Base hospital No. 7 at Tours, France, to which Misses Mitchell, Bulmer, MacDonald and other Lawrence nurses were attached.

From the hospital Mr. Cronin was sent to Nice on the Riviera for one month's convalescent treatment and was at Monte Carlo, near Nice on the night the Armistice was signed.

Upon discharge from the hospital Mr. Cronin spent several months at a replacement camp, and in March of this year was one of the fortunate few selected from the army in France for a three months course in the British University and from March 1st until July 1st he was in London as a student at the famous old English Law School, the Inns of Court.

He returned to the States on July 29th and was discharged from the service on August 15th, after a total service of two years and three months of which twenty-three months were overseas.

He has since been connected with his former law firm in Boston until Saturday when he resigned to accept the more important position in New York.

Mr. Cronin was a member of the Andover Club, Andover Council K. of C. and Andover Post of the American Legion.

Mr. Cronin was very well known locally and his many friends while regretting his departure wish him every success in the much broader and more important work upon which he has entered.

Aquinaldo's Son Is Honor Student

It's a small world and time works wonders. Less than two decades ago Aquinaldo was leading an insurrection against the United States forces in the Philippine Islands and was practically an outlaw with a price on his head.

Today his son, E. Aquinaldo, Jr., is an honor student at Phillips Academy and was named in three subjects: Algebra, Latin and French. Young Aquinaldo with Escamilla, another Filipino, the son of Aquinaldo's secretary, entered Phillips Academy last September, and it is of special interest to note that both young men are domiciled in the "America" house on Main street, where Dr. Samuel F. Smith wrote "My Country, 'Tis of Thee" when a student in Andover Theological Seminary.

Mr. Aquinaldo and Mr. Escamilla are entering into the school activities with great zest and the latter is one of the best players on the varsity soccer team.

Dollar Social at Free Church

A literary and musical program concluded the regular sewing meeting and supper held by the Ladies' Benevolent Society of the Free Church in the Parish House on last Friday evening. Each member having earned a dollar for the society's treasury told her story in verse. This plan contributed $40.00 toward the work of the society as well as affording much amusement for the ladies and their guests.

Miss Edith Hay of Lawrence, daughter of a former Free Church girl, rendered three vocal solos and was given a very cordial reception. Her songs were "Bonnie Sweet Bessie," "Carissima" and "Daddy's Sweetheart." Mrs. Margaret Hutcheson sang with fine effect Foster's "Good Bye" and later in the evening sang "A Dollar or Two," not written for the occasion, but very appropriate.

Wearing the gown of her great-grandmother, Miss Minerva Ramsdell won much applause when she sang "When You and I Were Young, Maggie." She also recited "The King's Pretense." Miss Margaret May gave a reading of "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin." The supper was in charge of Mrs. Frank Butterick, Miss Alice S. Coutts and Mrs. Martin Sawyer, while the entertainment was under the direction of Mrs. F. B. Goff, Miss Florence Parker and Mrs. Cecelia Derrah.

Red Cross Drive Will Close Tomorrow

Owing to the bad weather, captains of teams working in the Red Cross Drive have been given additional time in which to cover their territory. West Andover and several outlying districts have not yet reported at headquarters.

Abbot Academy and Phillips Academy have had very successful campaigns, the former having a 100% membership, while the latter has 395 members and a total of $700.00 contributed. A baked bean supper given at Grange Hall netted $50.00 for the cause and the local post of the American Legion contributed $25.00.

Chairman C. Carleton Kimball quoted these figures when the books were made up on Thursday night: membership fees—$2,595, contributions toward the $3000 quota, $2,215.04. Much hard work has been put into the campaign and it is hoped that there will be a better story to tell next week when everyone has been heard from.

Abbot Academy Notes

The Sunday evening service, November 9th, was conducted by President Thomas of Middlebury College.

Peace Day was observed very fittingly at Abbot Academy by a chapel service in Abbot Hall. The meeting was one of consecration to the facing of the many problems which today confront every American.

Later in the morning, despite somewhat threatening weather, the faculty and students of the school entrained for Bradford Academy to join with friends there in the picnic and athletic meet which had been necessarily postponed from last week. The day proved an uncommonly happy one for Abbot, both from the point of view of social intercourse and from that of success in contest. Although Bradford and Abbot each won in two events—Bradford in the relay race and croquet and Abbot in hockey and basketball—it was Abbot Academy's good fortune to return with the greater number of points: 20 to Bradford's 8.

Tuesday evening, "A's" were awarded by Miss Bailey to those girls who had played on the various teams at Bradford.

Last evening the members of the Academy and a number of townspeople were given the pleasure of listening to Charles L. Underhill's impersonation of the characters in Sheridan's "The Rivals." The different characters were excellently and distinctively presented and the humor of the play fully drawn out. Perhaps Sir Anthony Absolute, Mrs. Malaprop of linguistic fame, and Bob Acres stood out most clearly in the minds of the audience; but the play as a whole was vividly presented.

Garfield Temple Officially Inspected

Wednesday night Deputy Grand Chief Mrs. Attie E. Brown and suite of S. Louise Gale Temple of Lawrence, made an official visit to Garfield Temple, Pythian Sisters. The meeting was held in Garfield hall and there was a large attendance of members.

Deputy Chief Brown witnessed the exemplification of the initiatory degree on a class of candidates and the work was performed by the degree team of Garfield Temple. At the close Mrs. Brown complimented the officers and team on the excellent manner in which the work had been performed.

A social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served by the good of the order committee: Miss Sarah Hilton, chairman; Helen Poland, Miss Elizabeth Henderson, James Caldwell, James Gorrie and George York.

Garfield Temple is the youngest organization in town but is making rapid advancement and several applications were received for membership at the meeting Wednesday night.

Abbot Academy Recitals

The Berkshire String Quartet has been secured to give the first concert in the Abbot Academy recital series of the present year. It will take place on Wednesday afternoon, December 3rd. This quartet is composed of four former members of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra: Hugo Kortschak, first violin; Jacques Gordon; second violin; Clarence Evans, viola; and Emerson Stroeber, cellist. All four artists have for several years been closely connected with chamber music as well as with solo work, and their individual work has attracted attention in concert circles.

The quartet has received its name from the fact that its patroness, Mrs. F. S. Coolidge, maintains a summer home at Pittsfield, Mass., among the Berkshire Hills. It was there that the members of the organization began their rehearsals two years ago under conditions ideal for the development of a fine ensemble, and in honor of its supporter and her efforts in behalf of chamber music in the country, the name Berkshire was adopted. The results of their two years' constant and intimate association are already well known to all who follow musical activities. The quartet has appeared with distinguished success in Boston, Philadelphia, New York and other large cities, and there is now a wide demand for concerts by them.

Tickets for the series will shortly be on sale at the Andover Bookstore. As usual, there will be three concerts.

A big Get-Together banquet is being planned for the near future, for the men of West Parish.

A community choral society is being formed. They will meet Mondays in the West Church vestry.

Miss Abernethy of Melrose spent the week-end with Miss Margaret Ward of Lowell street.

Mrs. George D. Ward spent the week-end in Abington as a guest of her daughter, Mrs. James Marshall.

Miss Ellen C. Painting of Boston has been a recent visitor at the Carter home-stead on High Plain road.

An epidemic of mumps seems to have visited West Centre school making sad inroads on the attendance.

Kenneth Hardy is in town for a short visit. He will attend the Dartmouth-Brown football game on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Clark of Swansea, New Hampshire, were calling in the Parish on Tuesday, renewing old acquaintances.

West Parish is very glad that Lowell street is open to traffic again, and the new stretch of road that has just been built will certainly be appreciated by all.

The Seaman's Friend Society will meet on Friday evening. Supper will be served by Mr. and Mrs. Trow, Mr. and Mrs. Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boutwell. All friends are cordially invited.

A new society has been organized among the girls of the Parish. Its object is, "To promote the social interests of the girls of West Parish and to lend a helping hand wherever needed." Its name is "Laugh-a-Lot Society." Its officers are: president, Miss Marion Abbott; vice-president, Miss Florence Pike; secretary, Miss Dora Ward; treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Doyle; executive committee, the four officers and Miss Ebbie Peterson and Mrs. Phoebe Carter. The chairman of the Literary Committee is Mrs. Kenneth Hilton; chairman of the social committee, Miss Pearl McCollum; chairman of the goodwill committee, Miss Agnes Kydd.

The baked bean supper which the Osgood district friends held in the Grange Hall on Saturday evening was most successful and netted $50.00 for the Red Cross. The supper tables looked very pretty with the tiny bunches of fox-berries for each guest. The supper was bountiful and well-served as Osgood District suppers always are. The members of the committee were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Champion, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kress; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Colquhoun and Miss Edith Fraser. Dancing followed with Watson's orchestra of Lawrence to furnish the music. Everybody enjoyed the evening and many thanks are due to the very efficient committee who had it in charge.

Work on Farms Makes an Appeal to Women

During the war thousands of women turned their attention to farming as a patriotic duty. But what they learned during the two years of war has opened their eyes to the possibilities of farming as a business, and many are adopting it in preference to indoor occupations.

A group of Philadelphia women recently applied for and have just been granted a charter for the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, with the announced purpose of "enabling women to co-operate in the furtherance of agricultural and horticultural projects."

Miss Rita Let Smith, Y. W. C. A. Student Secretary in China, Relates Amazing Story of How 20,000 Students Organized Themselves.

By BERNICE GRISWOLD.

Miss Harriet Smith, for ten years student secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association in Shanghai, China, relates the amazing story of how 20,000 Chinese students organized themselves to oust the militarists from Government offices in Peking and how they succeeded in becoming the leaders of China.

Fearing that China was not to be protected from the aggression of other nations by the Peace Treaty, as she had expected to be, some 20,000 students, all of them between the ages of twelve and twenty-one years and including 8,000 girls organized themselves into the Chinese Students' Patriotic Society immediately after the publication of the first draft of the Peace Treaty to fight for Chinese rights.

Their first move was to strike from school or, rather, from lectures, as they remained in their respective schools and spent so many hours daily in private study. They then organized into bands for getting out propaganda literature and for public speaking in the country and small towns and in the tea shops in poorer districts of the cities in order that they might reach the vast numbers of people who could not read.

Immediately upon organizing, the students published their demands, four in number: (1) that the militarists, who as a party were pro-Japanese and practically controlled the Government at Peking, be put out of office; (2) that Shantung be returned to China; (3) that the twenty-one demands made by Japan in 1915 be cancelled; (4) that there be freedom of speech and of the press. They also insisted that the Chinese constitution be finished.

An immense amount of literature was put out, much of it in the new phonetic script which is being launched in China, so that the uneducated classes might learn what was happening. Students lectured everywhere on the demands, stirring the people to patriotism. When many of them were arrested while parading in the streets of Peking they formed an Association of Imprisoned Students within the prison and refused to be released, picketing the stockade themselves when Government guards were taken away, until the Government submitted a proper apology for having imprisoned them in the beginning.

When it became evident that economic pressure was all that would be effective both the bankers' and merchants' guilds were called upon to back the students. "In less than two hours," Miss Smith said, "the shutters were up at every shop in that great city of Shanghai, where telephones are few and communication difficult. Every shop, whether large or small, was closed. The laboring people, feeling as patriotic as the bankers, merchants and students, also joined the general strike. For a week everything was closed—shops, money exchanges, fish markets, shipping, everything. The students struggled to keep public utilities running. The telephone service was stopped for a short time, but the students soon had it running again. They held meetings day and night, trying to keep the railroad employees at their posts and explaining that it was patriotism for them and for water works and electric light employees to continue to work. At the end of that week the students had won the first point and the militarists were out of power."

When suffrage in any form finally comes to China Miss Smith feels that it will be granted to both men and women because of the way women are helping to build things up now. Women students took an active part in all of this bloodless revolution. They had their places on all of the councils. Their part of the work was to translate much of the literature into phonetic script and when a boycott was declared on Japanese goods to begin production of goods in China.

Miss Smith lives in Richmond, Va., and is home on a year's furlough. She expects to return to China in the spring.

Commandments to Aid in Fight Against High Cost of Living

Ten commandments for the guidance of a man's financial life have been drawn up by a National Committee of bankers and others to aid in the great drive of 1920 against the cohorts of High Cost of Living.

This decalogue for the frugal man to stiffen his morale in a battle to save something from the profiteers and rent raisers is part of the program for the National Thrift Week to begin January 17 next.

Plans for rallying the armies of money savers for the 1920 drive by holding this thrift week were approved by the American Bankers' Association in its recent convention in this city. The idea already had the endorsement of the United States League of Building and Loan Associations, National Federation of Construction Industries, Retail Credit Men's Association, National Association of Life Insurance Underwriters, National Credit Men's Association, the American Life Convention and other national bodies.

The ten commandments as recommended by Walter W. Head, of Omaha, vice-president of the National Bankers' Association of the American Bankers' Association are:

1. Make a budget.

2. Keep an intelligent record of expenditures.

3. Have a bank account.

4. Carry life insurance.

5. Make a will.

6. Own your own home eventually.

7. Pay your bills promptly.

8. Invest in war savings stamps and other government securities.

9. Spend less than you earn.

10. Share with others. Thrift without benevolence is a doubtful blessing.

Our Soldier Dead

"In Flanders fields, where poppies blow,"

In France where beauteous roses grow, There let them rest—forever sleep, While we eternal vigil keep With our heart's love—with our soul's prayer,

For all our Fallen "Over There."

The sounding sea between us rolls And in perpetual requiem tolls— Three thousand miles of cheerless space Lie 'twixt us and their resting place: 'Twas God Who took them by the hand And left them in the stranger land.

The earth is sacred where they fell— Forever on it lies the spell Of hero deed in Freedom's cause, And men unborn shall come and pause To say a prayer, or bow the head, So leave these graves to hold their dead.

Let not our sighing nor our tears Fall on them through the coming years, Who on the land, on sea, in air, With dauntless courage everywhere, Their homes and country glorified— Stood to their arms, and smiling died.

Great France will leave no need nor room That we place flowers on their tomb— And proudly o'er their resting place, Will float forever in its grace, O'er cross, and star, and symbol tag, Their own beloved country's Flag.

The morning sun will gild with light, The stars keep holy watch at night, The winter spread soft pall of snow, The summer flowers about them grow, The sweet birds sing their Springtime call God's love and mercy guard them all.

ing to keep the railroad employees at their posts and explaining that it was patriotism for them and for water works and electric light employees to continue to work. At the end of that week the students had won the first point and the militarists were out of power."

When suffrage in any form finally comes to China Miss Smith feels that it will be granted to both men and women because of the way women are helping to build things up now. Women students took an active part in all of this bloodless revolution. They had their places on all of the councils. Their part of the work was to translate much of the literature into phonetic script and when a boycott was declared on Japanese goods to begin production of goods in China.

MISS HARRIET SMITH

"All of the students threw away their straw hats—purely Japanese products—at the beginning of their movement, and the women students set about making white duck hats, which were called patriotic hats and immediately became very popular. Then they began devoting themselves to the making of parasols and of talcum powder. Some of them paraded but none was arrested."

"China is the last country in the world to fear class feeling and anti-party, which seems to be gripping the rest of the world," Miss Smith says. "In China there is a wonderful social solidarity. People get together, not so much by localities, but by trades and professions. Every one belongs to a guild, and these guilds are wonderfully organized, as the Chinese have a genius for organization. Despite poor lines of communication, lack of railroads and telephones, these guilds hold closely together. Yet their organization has nothing to do with caste."

"With a leadership as highly organized as that of the students a great amount can be done. Leading men of China interpret the student movement as very significant—the forming of a new national party. It is the duty of all Christian organizations in China to give these students, who are now the leaders of the Government, every possible bit of aid and inspiration, as they need more than human help to bring China out of her difficulties successfully. The Y. W. C. A. is doing what it can to help the women students. All of these students have given up their vacations and are working hard throughout the summer."

Miss Smith has seen China change, within ten years, from one of the oldest and most rigid monarchies of the world into a republic. She saw the first republican flag go up and feels that China has accomplished a great deal, fighting all the time as she has, against the great odds of Japanese and European aggression in addition to the old monarchistic party. Given time, China will become one of the great republics of the world, she says.

Miss Smith lives in Richmond, Va., and is home on a year's furlough. She expects to return to China in the spring.

BOWLING

Smith and Dove League

The Smith and Dove League finished its first round last week. Three teams are tied on points won and lost. The New Mill holds first place by having the greatest pinfall. It is also a member of the champions that holds the highest average, Charles Hughes with 92; J. Connolly of the Repair Shop is second with 91 1-3 and W. Low of the New Mill and R. H. Bradford of the Office are the only others over 90.

The Old Mill took a good lead this week by winning four from the lowly Bleachers while the Champions and the Repair Shop fought it out for second place. It required a roll-off of an extra string to settle their game, the New Mill finally winning 3 to 1.

little can be said, as so many shifts have been made during the preliminary season. It seems certain however, that Captain Adams will play in one halfback position, Neidlinger, the other, with Pfaffmann, fullback. Captain Adams has played fine football all year. His clever running and dodging and his all-round generalship has been one of the outstanding features. Neidlinger has not played in many games this year owing to injuries, but he is known as an aggressive player and will give a good account of himself. Pfaffmann has done some good work this year. He started the season as end, but has since been shifted to the backfield. Wingate, who is slated to play quarterback, is a heady, aggressive type and big things are expected of him.

CAPTAIN ADAMS

Of the line men a good deal might be said. They are heavy yet fast and full of life. If no shifts are made by Coach Daly the following will in all probability start: King, e.e.; La Tuippe, l.t.; Reed, l.g.; Akersley, e.b.; Daley, r.t.; Bush, r.e. The team has many fine substitutes to draw from in case of accident or a desire to change, among the most prominent being Wright, Talmage, Strong, Anderson, Searles, Farnsworth, Wolfe, Koehler, Martin, Scott, Smith, King and Reed.

To Andover people there is an especial interest in this game as there are two local boys in the lineup: Captain Adams and Leo Daley. Both men have a large following of friends who are planning to accompany the team.

A special train will leave Andover at 12:15 o'clock.

LAWRENCE

Saturday, Nov. 8—Menders and burlers employed in the Arlington mills have been granted an increase in wages equal to approximately 15 per cent. Over two hundred young women who are paid by piece work will benefit by the increase, which went into effect this week. By the will of Florence L. Carney of North Andover, who died November 5th, the following public bequests are made: To the Protectorate of Mary Immaculate, known as the Orphan Asylum of this city, and to St. Joseph's Home for the Blind at Jersey City, N. J., each $1000. Although alterations in the chemical laboratory of the high school have greatly relieved the condition of overcrowding, it is absolutely necessary that morning and afternoon sessions be held to accommodate all those who attend the school. It is estimated that the school will be entirely unable to care for all pupils within two years.

Monday, Nov. 10—The following is a list of candidates whose names will appear on the ballot at the city primaries, Tuesday, November 18th: For Mayor, Ex-Mayor William P. White; Atty., Michael A. Flanagan, Major Frank L. Donovan and City Treasurer William A. Kelleher. One of the first mercantile establishments in this city to establish an all-the-year-round profit sharing plan for its employees is the Reid and Hughes company. Leonard E. Bennink, president and treasurer of the firm has announced to the employees that a fixed per cent of all sales would be divided each month among the regular employees of the selling force, and that office help, drivers, etc., who are not actually engaged in the selling of goods would also share in the division.

Wednesday, Nov. 12—The persons in smallpox quarantine at 299 Merrimack street lived well during their term of confinement. The quarantine was lifted last Saturday and the bill for food supplied to the people during their confinement was submitted to the Board of Health by a South Lawrence merchant at the regular meeting Wednesday morning. The food bill was $253.47 or an average of $12.00 a day, which the board members suggested was exceptionally fine living for eleven persons, comprising two families of five adults and six children. The unfurling of a flag and a stirring patriotic address on "Law and Order" were the features of a meeting of the local Americanization club Monday evening at their quarters, 283 Essex street. The flag, a gift of Leonard E. Bennink, was unfurled by the latter who also spoke on "Law and Order." As a reward for the person turning in the greatest number of subscriptions in the house-to-house canvass, a trip above the city was promised and there is much speculation as to the person who will fly across the city with Wesley Keough, a former army aviator and who is now located at Shattuck Farm in Andover with his plane.

NORTH ANDOVER

Saturday, Nov. 8—Miss Esther M. Nutting has closed her summer home at the corner of Chestnut and Andover streets in the Centre. She is stopping at the Charlesgate, Beacon street, Boston, for the winter. J. H. D. Smith and daughter, Miss Harriet Smith, are to leave next Monday for Boston, after passing the season at their summer home, Academy road, in the Centre. The Misses Agnes and Gertrude Brooks leave for Boston next week after passing the season at the Phillips Manse, their summer residence in the Centre. The American Legion is greatly pleased with its quarters at the North Andover Clubhouse. The Club is allowing full use of the building for meeting nights and many of the Post members are joining the Club.

Monday, Nov. 10—Bishop William Lawrence, Episcopal Bishop of Massachusetts, instituted Rev. William E. Patrick as rector of St. Paul's church, North Andover, in an impressive service yesterday morning. The installation of the two-platoon system in the fire department will not go into effect until the first week in February. A notable event in the history of the Trinitarian Congregational church occurred Saturday evening when those from that parish who served in the great war, sixty in number, with parents, wives or lady friends were tendered a welcome home banquet and reception by the church. North Andover contributions to the Lawrence General hospital as a result of the sale held at the Lawrence Armory, October 3rd, is $1000.

Wednesday, Nov. 12—Rev. F. Talor Weil, assistant minister at Grace church, New Bedford, has accepted a call to become rector of St. Andrew's Church, New Bedford and will begin his work December first. Mr. Weil is a North Andover man and before studying for the ministry was prominent in the work of St. Paul's church, where he was later ordained. Mr. Weil is a graduate of Dartmouth and of the Episcopal Theological school and for the last two years, has been assistant to the Rev. Harry Beal, rector of Grace Church, New Bedford.

METHUEN

Wednesday, Nov. 12—Methuen has 3012 voters entitled to vote at the city primaries being held today, the largest registration ever recorded. By wards, as follows: Ward 1: 577; ward 2: 694; ward 3: 700; ward 4: 320; ward 5: 710.

CHINESE BECOME SOCIAL PIONEERS

Men and Women Form Good Fellowship Club Together Under Y. W. C. A. Leadership.

The Good Fellowship Club has made its appearance in society in Hanchow, China.

It began with the desire of a progressive young Chinese doctor to give his compatriots, especially the Christians, some beautiful form of social intercourse. Channels for a good, clean, social life among Chinese people are very limited. Until recently becoming a Christian often meant cutting oneself off from one's friends and relatives, also from feast days and festivals. As for joint meetings of men and women, such a thing was never heard of in decent society.

The young doctor's plan of having a club where men and their wives might come together to enjoy a good time with each other was discouraged and snuffed at. However, a few people agreed to be pioneers in the cause of social intercourse, and Y. W. C. A. secretaries agreed to help make the club a success.

At first the meetings of the club were held at the doctor's home, but the whole affair considered a joke. However, the members kept on meeting, first at one house and then at another. Soon the men got over the feeling of strangeness at starting out with their wives on Tuesday evening for a friend's home. The women began to enjoy the outing and to take part in the discussions—an intelligent part, too—much to the surprise of their husbands.

The membership grew. The club's fame began to spread. At first the discussions of the club were conducted in English. Soon it became necessary for them to be carried on in Chinese so that more of the women could understand and take part. Many of the doctors began to apply for admission. The members began indulging in much friendly chaffing and occasionally forgot their dignity to play jokes on one another. Finally it became so large that it had to be divided into two sections, which met separately three Tuesday evenings in the month and on the fourth Tuesday met together for a joint session, with a special program.

Students just returned from American and German colleges, an old Buddhist scholar who is particularly interested in the discussion on Buddhism and Christianity, merchants, railroad and government officials compose the men's side of the club. The women are still a bit shy about talking in front of so many people, but many of them show signs of great executive ability and power of leadership. They are all well poised, clear thinking individuals, who will have a great influence on China's future. They discuss among themselves group meetings in their various churches, the lack of amusements for Chinese women, social service work, subscription lists for the orphanage, cake making, types of stoves, baby diets, the latest engagement and other topics such as one would hear discussed by a group of women gathered together any place in America.

The social part of the evening is given over to games, which at first astounded the sober Chinese gentlemen, but which they take up with great zest after the first evening. And their wives enjoy it just as greatly. Real American picnics are the latest thing which the club has tried, and they are a great success. A Christmas play is being planned now.

ENGLISH IS COMMON TONGUE.

Chinese Girls Learn It to Talk to One Another.

Chinese women students in the Tung Fu College, Peking, China, are obliged to learn English in order to talk with one another because of the different dialects used by the student body. Girls from the extreme western provinces of China, who attend the school, must remain in Peking during all of the eight years required for their high school and college training, because to return each summer would require six weeks for the trip one way and would cost more than a trip to America and return.

Girls from each of the western provinces speak a different language and they cannot understand one another any more than they can the girls from northern, southern, eastern or central provinces. Hence, they have adopted English as a common tongue.

NEW SCHOOL FOR CHINA.

Y. W. C. A. Secures New Site for Girls' Physical Training School.

A new home has been found for the Physical Training School which the Young Women's Christian Association has opened for native girls in Shanghai, China.

The school, while in the country, is not far distant from the National Headquarters of the Y. W. C. A. in Shanghai nor far from the local Y. W. C. A. The grounds cover eighteen "mow," which means approximately six acres, and are divided by a private road. A foreign residence already on the grounds will be used by the American teachers, while native buildings on the other side will furnish living quarters and classrooms for the 85 students.

The grounds boast a garden, tennis courts and an athletic field.

SAVING SEEN AS REMEDY IN LIVING COSTS

MRS. HIGGINSON ASKS FOR ECONOMY

With the prediction by high officials in Washington that before the high cost of living becomes lower in this country the people must cease spending their money for luxuries, Mrs. Francis L. Higginson, director of savings for the First Federal Reserve District has issued a statement urging the people of New England to be more thrifty, invest their savings in safe securities such as Thrift Stamps, War Savings Stamps, Treasury Saving Certificates and other government securities.

Spending Recklessly. Mrs. Higginson's statement reads as follows:

"The investigation of the high cost of living at Washington has brought to light the fact that one of the reasons for the present high prices is because the people are spending money lavishly for luxuries."

"It has also been pointed out by prominent officials at Washington that no relief from high prices can be expected until the people refrain from demanding the highest quality of everything and paying any price to get it."

Should Practice Thrift. "If every person in New England would practice thrift for at least a year and invest their savings in safe securities such as are offered by the Government, the Federal Land Banks and Savings Banks, we should not hear so much about the high cost of living."

"Today there is a greater number of people in New England practicing thrift than before the war but there still remains a much larger number of people who as yet have not learned the benefits to be derived from thrift, and the proper investment of their savings in safe securities rather than in untried investments."

"I feel sure that if the people of New England can be brought to realize that a more conservative expenditure of their income will help to reduce the high cost of living, they will gladly refrain from the purchase of non-essentials."

FAMILY COOPERATION

"How do they do it?" They seem to have everything they want, yet save something. I never have anything except the 'must haves' and am always in debt."

Are you sure? What are your "must haves"? Make a list of them, an honest list, and see if you are not having many things beside.

Family Must Agree. The difficulty is with the extra things. If you will first make your list of "must haves" and then a list of "do haves" you will find that in the second list are many things you could easily do without, and you could use the money released first to save and then to purchase more of the things which you want.

How can such lists be made helpful in solving family money problems? All members of the family must agree upon three things: first, that a change in method is desirable; second, that they will help in making the new plan; third, that they will cooperate in carrying out.

It is as impossible for one member of the family to accomplish anything

MAKE BANKS OF GRENADES

To Be Given to Thrifty Children of New England

LITTLE MISS THRIFT HOLDING NEW MINIATURE W.S.S. GRENADE SAVINGS BANK.

Approximately 250,000 miniature banks made from hand grenades are to be distributed among the thrifty children of New England. These banks, which are made to hold dimes and pennies, will be given to each youngster under twelve years, who purchases one War Savings Stamp. Children over twelve years of age can secure one of these banks when they have purchased two stamps.

To Encourage Thrift.

When the armistice was signed the War Department had on hand 15,000,000 grenades. To encourage thrift and stimulate interest in the savings campaign, the hand weapons were transformed into beautiful miniature banks that will hold 110 pennies or dimes. Across the face of the grenade bank appear the words "Buy U. S. S."

These banks will be distributed under the supervision of the War Loan Organization of the Savings Division of the First Federal Reserve District for the purpose of stimulating the habit of thrift among the children.

When these miniature banks are ready for distribution, they may be obtained at representative department stores and banks.

Every bit of waste takes force from the driving power of America.

Family Finished Washing

Beginning Monday, July 28, we will install the new method of Family Finished Washing

There is no reason why the women of Andover and vicinity cannot have the same advantages as the women of Boston, Malden, Winchester, and other cities, where there is an up-to-date laundry.

THE COMPLETE BASKETFUL WASHED, STARCHED AND IRONED

to be charged at the rate of 7 cents per lb. plus one cent each. This includes washing and starching of pieces requiring it and the ironing of the flat work.

On the wearing apparel we will charge only for the actual time required to iron same with our new electric irons, at the rate of 45 cents per hour.

A fair amount of flat work is necessary to obtain these rates. If this is not sent, an extra charge of 10 cents per hour will be added to ironing of wearing apparel.

No starched shirts, collars, cuffs, lace curtains or woolen blankets allowed on this list. These we do only at regular list prices.

NO CHARGE LESS THAN $1.50

Washing must be sent in basket or wooden box to insure against mistakes as this kind of work is washed by itself and not marked in. This family finished gives us a chance to give individual attention to every basket and makes a desirable substitute for the wet wash, with but little added expense.

All other lines continued the same.

Washington Letter

Washington, D. C.—The strike over and the Congress considering the "turn-about-face" of Mr. Gompers just prior to the miners coming back to reason, there is still not much of a breathing spell here. The Prince of Wales was received in royal English weather, fog and rain, and the election in Massachusetts and Kentucky not yet a dried subject, there are as you can readily imagine, doings here. Some say adjournment is in sight and yet there are others who declare that the sessions will run into one another as they did some few years ago during the great popularity of the present administration. But as yet no plans have been made. Congress is still on the job and is doing something even in spite of its lack of real leadership in the House at times. The trouble is that for some years the Congress did about as the White House wanted and now that there is a change in affairs it takes some time for a proper adjustment of the wheels of Congress. Business is going on better than usual and the tasks before the national lawmakers are being considered carefully and thoroughly—even the peace treaty. When the other fellow is in the boots of the fellow on the job he is always kicking. In other words the minority of yesterday is just the kicker he is finding fault with now.

A prediction was made in the Capitol today that never more will the minority be represented in legislation. By that it is meant that the whim of a few men whether union men or not will not be written into law. The recent miners trouble has ended for all time probably, the selling out to labor leaders at the expense of the people or of any one else for that matter. The day is over when labor shall say that its lobby rules in spite of law, of order and of public opinion. Never perhaps in the history of organized labor had so many members of the Congress, regardless of politics, been so tired and sick of the actions of the labor leaders as now. The reaction has set in and both capital and labor will have a new deal and both will be recognized and both made to know the proper place for each to rule.

It may be interesting at this time to know a few facts as to coal and the miners. Director George Otis Smith, of the United States Geological Survey, tells the Senate that of coal production and mine operation for the weeks beginning November 16, 1918 and ending October 18, 1919, the average per cent of full-time capacity produced is 62.1. The maximum was 82.7 per cent for the week of November 23, 1918, while the minimum was 47.3 per cent for the week of April 5, 1919. Translated into the average hours "operated on the basis of full time of forty-eight hours," the corresponding figure is 29.7 hours as an average, with the maximum of 39.7 hours for the week ending November 29, 1918 and 22.7 hour for the week of April 5, 1919. It will be recalled that Mr. Gompers said that "the miners are simply asking for a regulation of the working time" and that "for several years the miners have not had more than a half year's work—their working days averaging from 160 to 180 days a year." Director Smith tells rather a different story based on facts and many figures taken from the miners, the mines and operators. It will be well for citizens everywhere to ponder these words and to get in touch with their representatives in Congress if there seems to be anything wrong with the U. S. Geological Survey.

In a letter to Senator Owen that was presented to the Senate Director Smith again called attention to the miners. In this communication he says "the fact brought out by the survey's weekly production statistics shows to me that the trouble with the bituminous coal industry is that for the year past it has been working on an average thirty-hour week. This in turn suggests that we have had too many mines and miners to meet current coal demands, although last November the demand was sufficient to bring out a production representing nearly a forty-hour week. On looking over the weekly record I find that in the twelve weeks of February, March and April the average working time was only a fraction over twenty-four hours. During this period, therefore, when, as I remember it, the chief trouble was no market demand for coal, the mines were on a half-time basis."

While the miners have not at all times been employed all of the time, yet they have been busy far more often than the would-be labor men tell the public. Senator Cummings of Iowa, says that he believes that the miners have not received the compensation for their labors which they ought to receive, yet he is of the opinion that the reason for the failure to give continuous employment to the miners is partly due to the shortage of transportation facilities and partly the disinclination of the people of the country to buy coal at certain seasons of the year, at certain prices also.

Senator Cummings says that "every hour needless" and in the consideration of the German treaty is an hour that we ought to devote to our domestic affairs." And that hour is coming rapidly. But the Senate of the United States at this time can be depended upon to give the miners as well as the operators and the public, a square deal. The days of bunk stuff are over and days of sanity are being restored. A visit at the Capitol nowadays will reveal that this is a fact. Everybody mostly seems to figure that business, as business should be done, is being transacted after many days of war and the extravagances of war.

The people have been with the public in the miners' affair and there they should remain.

patient to the Lawrence General hospital. Mr. Woodbridge had just unharnessed his horse and was about to enter the house where he lives alone when he was attacked.

Officer Saunders and Chief Smith were called to the scene of the shooting, but the assailant had made his escape under cover of darkness. No shot in the house or near the door was to be found; nor were any suspicious footsteps seen. A wad from the cartridge of a shot gun was the only trace left by the assassin. The scattering of the shot in a ten or twelve inch wound indicates that the assailant fired several yards from his target.

Mr. Woodbridge's house is connected with a cider mill which has sometimes attracted undesirable persons and his refusal to sell it to them has occasionally led to difficulty but this is not a sufficient motive for such an unwarranted attack.

How Our Milk Is Used

Estimates made by the United States Department of Agriculture show how the 87,905,000,000 pounds of milk produced in the United States annually are utilized. Forty-four and one-half per cent is used as fresh milk for human food purposes, while 36 percent of the gross supply is converted into butter, and 4.2 per cent is made into cheese; another 4.5 per cent is transformed into canned milk, 4 per cent is used in ice-cream making, 4 per cent is used in feeding calves and hogs on the farms of origin, and 2.5 per cent is lost in shrinkage and other waste of the dairying industry.

Now is the time to fix that leaky roof.

WHY REYNOLDS SHINGLES ARE THE BEST:

Reynolds shingles were the first asphalt shingles made. They have had more years actual roof-test service than any other asphalt shingle. They have been on roofs for eighteen years and are still found to be in good condition. They are surfaced with granulated rock, slate, etc., and the natural colors are retained—reds, greens and gray—non-fading, beautiful. Reynolds shingles are guaranteed—They will not split, rust, curl, leak nor blow off. Economical to buy, economical to lay, no repairs or painting required. Reynolds shingles possess the three cardinal shingle virtues—Beauty, Durability and Economy. The mineral surfacing acts as a fire-preventive, making an insulation against flying sparks and brands. These shingles have been tested in the insurance underwriters laboratories and have been officially approved as fire-retardants. Do not be misled into thinking all Asphalt shingles are alike—They are not. There are as many grades of Asphalt shingles as there are names. Reynolds shingles are the improved, approved, and proven best to use.
